

Director

Lovewise
for the best in relationships

Lovewise is a charity committed to teaching young people a Christian perspective on puberty, marriage, relationships, and sex.

The Trustees are looking to appoint a new Director to lead the organisation into its next season of ministry in consultation with the Trustees and Deputy Director.

They are seeking a man to head up and complement the current all female team. He would need to be a committed and practicing Christian who is able to sign up to the Lovewise statement of faith and code of practice.

The post is 20 hours per week. The salary for the 20-hour week will be between £26,000 and £29,000 depending on age and experience. The role could involve hybrid working combining home working with regular meetings at the charity's base in Newcastle upon Tyne.
